Our Work:

Start up Microbusiness Intra and entrepreneurship Sectors Cultural, creative, corporate and Social Responsibility Sarah and Sian have worked together for over four years coordinating and delivering business support for pre-start ups in the cultural and creative practitioners.

Sarah brings her strong project management and technical skills to the relationship and Sian brings her knowledge of training and advice. We have created a positive working relationship, which ensures that communication between us and with others is clear and that work is achieved quickly, on time and meets targets. Both of us are able to communicate to a range of people, and operate inclusively, mindful, in particular of different learning needs.
